Turchin Center Holds Public Lecture with Visiting Sculptor on November 4

BOONE, NC— Appalachian State University's Turchin Center for the Visual Arts will hold a public lecture with visiting sculptor, Greg Bailey at 7 p.m. in the Turchin Center Lecture Hall. This event is free and open to the public. Bailey will be speaking on his exhibition, Perspectives in Bronze which is currently on display at the Turchin Center through November 13 and also includes works by Michael Warrick. Bailey will also be participating in multiple projects within Appalachian's Department of Art and will be attending the Turchin Center's Fall Exhibition Celebration on November 5 from 7-9 p.m.

Information on the exhibition

Perspectives in Bronze presents works by sculptors Greg Bailey & Michael Warrick and demonstrates the multifaceted qualities of bronze through works that contrast and complement one another. Bailey holds his MFA in sculpture from the University of Hartford and works in a diverse range of sculptural materials including bronze, steel and fiberglass. Warrick is a professor of sculpture at the University of Arkansas and has been a visiting artist, artist-in-residence and lecturer at 92 institutions and has installed outdoor sculptural works in over 15 states.
